Wishing Christmas cheer for shufflers

Three days before Christmas and the elves at the North Pole are just about finished building toys and treats for children across the globe; getting ready to load Santa's sleigh for an early Christmas morning race through the skies. Cool smells are beginning to Perserverence. Hitting weights and lagging numbers are important parts of your game but without perserverence you'll never make it through the tough times when our great game knocks you to your knees.

For not so new players: First of all, congratulations on having the perserverence that brought you longevity. Your gift is the responsibility of helping bring newcomers into the game with encouragement and sharing of the knowledge you have.

For players/sponsors/suppliers with family, friends and loved ones in Iraq: Hope that all of those people come home safely in the near future. Whether we agree or not with the war, we need to support the troops that are fighting it.

For all shufflers: Good health in 2005. There's nothing more important. To those who have suffered health problems in 2004: May 2005 find you on your way to complete recovery.

To the owners: May your shuffleboard table(s) be busier than anytime in the past and may your tournament brackets be full of players who are highly competitive and great sports men and women, too.

For Lorraine Bingham-Olson: Continued energy in helping to promote the game you obviously love so much. It isn't hard to be enthusiastic about the game when we see your efforts. May some of you rub off on the rest of us.

To tournament directors: First of all a thank you for everything you do. A present for 2005. How about one tournament where you don't have to call a single weight or settle any other disputes.

To Lynda French & The Board Talk: May you attract all of the subscribers you need to keep your vital publication going at a price shufflers find enticing. Sure, we're competitors but the game needs all of the communication it can get. And being competitors forces us each to do a better job for the shufflers we serve.

To the merchandisers: There are too many to mention by name because someone would be accidently left out. May 2005 bring your record sales and more wonderful money-making ideas that help improve table shuffleboard.

To Bob Davidson, Pacific Coast Shuffleboard: Growth for your great magazine in 2005. Thank you for the idea of aligning our publications, it works great.

To Eddie Brayman: More success in developing your software, "Computer Peas" that will take most of the work out of operating tournaments.

To all shufflers: At some point where you need it more than any other, a 4 lag to win a big game.

make their way from kitchens; anticipation runs high as families get ready to unite for the holiday. Children are on their best-behavior even though it's hard for them to contain their excitement.

Stereotypically, men are catching an extra catnap here and there in preparation for their biggest Christmas shopping day of the year . . . Christmas Eve.

There's no doubt that shufflers around the world have been "good" all year so there will be wonderful presents under their trees, but I'd like to add a few stocking stuffers.

For new players:

Barry Richardson and Karl Spickelmier win at Oskar's.

Spickelmier, Richardson win Oskar's Thanksgiving

BELLFLOWER, Calif. – The Bellflower team of Karl Spickelmier and Barry Richeson captured the second edition of the annual Al Stewart Memorial on Sunday, November 29, at Oskar's Sports Bar & Grill. It was the ninth year that the Bellflower bar has hosted a Thanksgiving weekend shuffleboard tournament.

Also finding themselves in the winner's circle was the ABC team of Yorba Linda's Bob Brunskill, Hemet's Robert Wade and Bellflower's Erika Worley. They defeated the team of Orange's Jerry Harp, Las Vegas' DeVonna Golden and Bellflower's Pearl Minard for the championship. A total of 7 teams were on hand for the Friday morning opener with a total of $1,875 paid out in entry fees and sponsor money.

Finishing in second place in the "Add-to-Two" Doubles were Temecula's Jim Martin and Wade and winding up in third place was the team of Escondido's Kenny Hawkes and Majeska Canyon's favorite son Vern Booth. There were nine teams on hand to play for the $2,620 entry fee and sponsor pool money.

Jim and DeVonna Golden were the tournament's furthest travelers making their way through some busy holiday freeway traffic from Las Vegas. Paramount's Paul Weber handled each event's team auction and he along with Richard Warren and Karl Spickelmier helped handle the tournament bracketing. Bar owner Oscar Ugarte laid out two separate turkey dinners with the help of Downey's Jan Manes.
